

Claims

1. A menswear garment (10), in particular shorts, such as boxer shorts, having a front part (11) and a back part (12) and having a waistband (14) extending along the front part and back part, characterized in that the front part (11) is provided on the inside with an insert part (30), extending to both sides of its longitudinal center (28), which insert part has one free edge (36, 37) each extending away from the longitudinal center (28); and that the two free edges (36, 37) are joined together in or near the crotch area (17) by the lower region of the insert part (30), forming a cuplike receptacle (39).

2. The menswear garment as defined by claim 1, characterized in that the cuplike receptacle (39), in the region where the free edges (36, 37) of the insert part (30) are joined together, is connected to a point (41) near the crotch area (17).

3. The menswear garment as defined by claim 2, characterized in that the securing point (41) is formed on a longitudinally extending inseam (42).

4. The menswear garment as defined by at least one of claims 1 through 3, characterized in that the insert part (30) is connected at its upper end to the waistband (14).

5. The menswear garment as defined by at least one of the foregoing claims, characterized in that the insert part (30) is approximately the shape of a cup in longitudinal section or of a pair of briefs.

6. The menswear garment as defined by at least one of the foregoing claims, characterized in that the insert part (30) is formed of two identical insert pieces (31, 32) that are disposed symmetrically to the longitudinal center (28).

7. The menswear garment as defined by claim 6, characterized in that each insert piece (31, 32), remote from its free edge, is secured to the front part (11) near the longitudinal center (28) thereof.

8. The menswear garment as defined by claim 6 or 7, characterized in that the two insert pieces (31, 32) are secured to the front part (11), in the longitudinal center (28) thereof, to both sides of a concealed fly (21).

9. The menswear garment as defined by claim 8, characterized in that the concealed fly (21) is provided with a button strip (22).

10. The menswear garment as defined by at least one of the foregoing claims, characterized in that the front and back parts (11, 12) are in one piece; and that the back part (12) has a gore (16) extending from the waistband (14) to the crotch area (17).